

Graduate Recommendation Letter

I am pleased to recommend Mrs. XXX to the Baruch College Zicklin School of Business. I became acquainted with Mrs. XXX as a student in my Micro Economics, and Management courses for which she received A's in both classes. Through her academic dedication, Ms. XXX portrayed her insightfulness, decision-making skills, and ambition.

As a professor, I rely heavily on case studies to help students learn business concepts, which requires that they spend several hours study them in preparation to contribute thoughtful insights to class discussions. Mrs. XXX was always very well prepared and generous in sharing her analysis of the case studies, significantly benefiting her classmates. Her insights clearly demonstrated her exceptional problem-solving skills, out of the box thinking and voracious appetite for learning.

Aside from her academic pursuits, Mrs. XXX also showed a desire for leadership and relationship building. To my knowledge, she played key leadership roles in several on-campus groups and contributed substantial time volunteering to support causes for which she was passionate.

XXX is a rare find. She is smart, ambitious, and very open-minded. I believe she will be successful wherever she ends up attending graduate school. She will be a dedicated student and a competent professional.
